 - Delivered a fully responsive news portal achieving cross-browser compatibility across Chrome, Firefox, and Edge by writing semantic HTML5, CSS3, and JavaScript with progressive enhancement.
 - Improved content availability to near-zero downtime during API failures by integrating REST API via fetch() with a static fallback mechanism for live data rendering.
 - Reduced perceived load time by auditing render-blocking resources and restructuring the CSS cascade to minimize DOM reflows.
 - Built a category-based filtering system with dynamic content loading by writing modular JS functions that updated the DOM without full-page reloads.
 - Maintained WCAG 2.1 AA accessibility standards across all UI components using semantic landmarks, sufficient color contrast, and keyboard-navigable elements.
- Frontend Developer Intern | CodeAlpha Jul 2026 · 1 month

 - Shipped 3 responsive frontend projects achieving consistent cross-browser rendering by using CSS Grid, Flexbox, and vendor-prefixed fallbacks across all major browsers.
 - Improved gallery load performance by ~40% by lazy-loading images and compressing assets, reducing initial page weight vs. the unoptimized baseline.
 - Maintained 100% version history traceability across all deliverables by managing code via structured Git commits and GitHub repository documentation.
